

3. Textural healing: QUARTZ CARPET

Quartz Carpet in Cauliflower R684/m² (fully installed), Quartz Carpet; 'It's beautiful here' coat rack, R1 250, Heath Nash; Eames Elephant R3 706, Panton Junior chair in orange R2 686, Porcupine Desk R9 027, all Vitra at Twice International; wooden caterpillar R120, Heartworks; clothing, accessories and sneakers, all Woolworths; shot on location at Twice International.

Texture, a seamless finish and customisation are some of the biggest trends in flooring, and Quartz Carpet merges all three. Less formal than wall-to-wall carpeting, this material – made of glacial aggregates – appeals with its fresh and modern spirit. The variety of shades available (there are 34 hues in a gloss or satin finish) translates into unlimited colour combinations and design opportunities that are deliciously nubby to the touch. ▷

'Quartz Carpet evokes a natural earthy mood – not unlike the clean pebbled look of a Greek beach. It's also easily installed and can be used indoors and out.' – Jeremy Stewart, Quartz Carpet
